

Chapel News

August 2015

There have been some recent improvements to our lovely chapel this month. The Canterbury Woods Capital Budget has paid for new track lighting which has already been installed to provide light more uniformly throughout the chapel during services and accent lighting has been placed along the floor board for a more inviting atmosphere throughout the week. Rheostats are on order to calm the lighting down which is currently too bright for most of us. An automatic door opener is in the works as well. In addition, the money that was contributed to our chapel fund in memory of Miriam Edwards is being used to refurbish the silver and gold communion vessels that have been in regular use over our fifty year history. Dents and scratches will be removed and electroplating with gold and silver will make them look like new. Many thanks to all those whose donations made this possible!
